

MacEwan University's Commitments through the Adoption of the Okanagan Charter

At MacEwan University, we promote health and wellness, recognizing the benefits to our campus and, as a downtown university, to our community at large. We support the healthy development of the whole person, and wellness is a vital component of that development.

Our three commitments made through adoption of the Okanagan Charter are as follows:

- MacEwan University commits to promoting health and wellness across campus by providing educational opportunities and wellness initiatives to students, to faculty, and to staff.
- MacEwan University commits to fostering an environment supportive of health and wellness in the wider community by extending the reach of our development initiatives beyond campus.
- MacEwan University commits to building and maintaining relationships, on campus and beyond it, that advance teaching, scholarship, and knowledge exchange in pursuit of health and wellness promotion: locally, nationally, and globally.
